The Society of American Military Engineers offers a unique series of engineering and construction camps/programs that are designed for high school students who excel in math, science and technology and are interested in pursuing engineering, architecture or related fields in college. These camps are high energy, hands-on events for students from across the country and around the world. The camps are led by a professional staff of engineers from the military services and private industry. Each camp is approximately one week in duration and each has its own unique focus and theme. The Engineering & Construction camps are a one-of-a-kind opportunity to experience what engineers, architects and builders do, to learn practical skills, and to gain exposure to the military services.

For 2020, the Seattle Post will sponsor three students – one each to attend either the U.S. Marine Corps Camp, the U.S. Navy Camp, the U.S. Air Force Camp, or the U.S. Coast Guard’s Academy Introduction Mission (AIM) Program. Dates and locations of these programs are noted below.

SAME/U.S. Navy Engineering and Construction Camp - Dates: June 21, 2020 through June 27, 2020; Location: -- Port Hueneme, California

Applications for the Marine Corps Camp, the Navy Camp and the Air Force Camp must be submitted through the SAME National web portal no later than March 16, 2020. SAME National will notify the Seattle Post of applications that identify the Seattle Post as a possible sponsor. The Seattle Post will make its final student selections by March 25, 2020 and will notify SAME National and prospective applicants. The link to the SAME National website outlines eligibility requirements for these three camps, as well as application submittal requirements: http://www.same.org/STEMcamps. Applicants selected by SAME National will be notified by the SAME National Engineering & Construction Camp Registrar, (Erin Ingersoll) well in advance of the start of the Engineering Camp.

Applications for the Coast Guard AIM Program are due by March 20, 2020. The following is a link to the Coast Guard AIM website, which outlines eligibility requirements for this program and application submittal requirements: http://www.uscga.edu/aim/. Prospective candidates submit the application on the website directly to the Coast Guard Academy AIM program and notify LT Brandon Strickland via email. A committee of the SAME Narragansett Bay Post will review and select students for SAME sponsorship. The U.S. Coast Guard Academy will notify students that are selected by May 1, 2020; additional details to be provided concerning this program in early February.

The evaluation process of prospective applicants for these programs by the Seattle Post will be on the basis of the application materials that are provided. The Seattle Post will pay the full registration fee and travel costs associated with each successful applicant that is sponsored by the Seattle Post.
