Dear St. Louis Post Members,

Spring has sprung! This month we have daylight savings time to “spring” forward an hour, an always-fun St. Patrick’s Day, National Women’s History Month and International Woman’s Day March 8th. The name of March comes from Martius, the first month of the earliest Roman calendar. It was named after Mars, the Roman god of war, and an ancestor of the Roman people through his sons Romulus and Remus. Traditionally, this was the time of year to resume military campaigns that had been interrupted by winter.

Now it’s time for some “house cleaning.” This is a good time of the year to start reviewing your individual and sustaining memberships. If you have an individual membership and you are not sure when it’s due, please reach out to me, and I can assist you. If your company is a sustaining member, please refer to the company point of contact, and they will have to update their members. Remember, if you have new hires and others transitioning out of the company, please update the sustaining member roster directly through the SAME National website at: https://www.same.org/cvweb/cgi-bin/memberdll.dll/info?&wrp=org_membershipapp.htm.

Looking ahead, we have some exciting events coming up this year, so keep your eye on our monthly “interactive” newsletter. We are actively looking for sponsors and volunteers for our upcoming STEM Camp at Scott AFB in July. Please reach out to me if you can help with that joint event between the St. Louis and Scott Field Posts. Coming up next month we have the SAME/SMPS Industry Day April 17-18 at the Regency Conference Center in O’Fallon IL. Representation from: GSA, USACE St. Louis, Rock Island, Tulsa, the 375th Air Mobility Wing, and 375th Civil Engineer Squadron plus lunchtime roundtables. Please see the St. Louis or Scott Field Posts websites for more information.

Hope to see you all there!

Sincerely,

Michelle Chambliss

NEW STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIP – George Washington University EEMI

George Washington University's EEMI was chartered as a University-wide institute in 2015 to advance human knowledge applicable to pragmatic, implementable, non-regulatory, next generation self-governance solutions that are primarily focused on national and international standards for environmental, energy, and sustainability management. The mission of the Institute is to conduct state-of-the-art, relevant research, to promote graduate and professional education, and to undertake service activities for the management of environmental, energy, and sustainability challenges facing organizations and communities throughout the Nation and the world. They will provide SAME a 15% off discount code for enrolling in EEMI professional development courses. For more information, contact: Joseph Cascio at cascio@gwu.edu.

SAVE Coalition Training

The Missouri Department of Public Safety will be holding SAVE Coalition Training on May 17th from 8:00am – 4:30pm at The Engineering Center of St. Louis. The SAVE (Structural Assessment and Visual Evaluation) Coalition is a group of volunteer engineers, architects, building inspectors, and other trained professionals that assists the Missouri State Emergency Management Agency with building damage inspections.

SAVE Coalition volunteers are called to assist when a disaster such as a tornado or earthquake causes so much structural damage that local officials need help determining the safety of buildings. After a disaster, SAVE volunteers are trained to move quickly to determine which buildings are safe to use and which should be evacuated. SAVE Inspectors are trained in rapid visual evaluations to get people back in their homes as soon as possible.

SAVE volunteers are well-qualified to conduct emergency inspections, with at least five years of professional experience in engineering, architecture, building inspection or construction industry skills. Members must also take special training in rapid visual evaluation to receive SAVE certification, with recertification every three years.

Register for SAVE Coalition training HERE!
