Constitution of the Society of American Military Engineers

PREAMBLE

The Military Engineers of the United States, having assembled themselves for the advancement of military engineering, do, in the name of the Society, adopt the following Constitution and By-Laws.

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE I. Name and Objectives.
1. The name of this organization shall be the Society of American Military Engineers.
2. The headquarters shall be in the City of Washington, District of Columbia.

ARTICLE II. Objectives.
1. The objects of the Society shall be to promote the efficiency of the military engineer of the United States, to maintain, on the best sound and standards, the professional knowledge necessary in the manning and training of all engineers in the military service.

ARTICLE III. Membership.
1. Classification. The membership of the Society shall be limited to those who, by professional standing, are qualified to serve as officers in the military service of the United States, or who have served honorably as military engineers for at least five years.

ARTICLE IV. Government.
1. The government of the Society shall be vested in an Executive Committee, appointed by the President, for the term of three years.

ARTICLE V. Amendments.
1. This constitution may be amended by a two-thirds vote of the members present at any regular meeting of the Society, provided three months' notice has been given of the proposed amendment.

BY-LAWS

ARTICLE I. Membership.
1. Any member who shall have served on active duty for at least five years and is not in the active service of the United States Army, Navy, or Marine Corps may become a life member by paying a fee of $50.00.

ARTICLE II. By-Laws.
1. These by-laws may be altered or amended at any regular meeting of the Society, provided three months' notice has been given of the proposed amendment.

APPENDIX

The Military Engineer

The Military Engineers of the United States, having assembled themselves for the advancement of military engineering, do, in the name of the Society, adopt the following Constitution and By-Laws.