Hosted by SAME

#5/29- Delivering Defense Infrastructure in Europe: Bridging US and Host Nation Approaches

Summary

This roundtable addresses the need for well-defined, efficient, cost-effective and on-time delivery of design and construction projects across Europe. The conversation will incorporate a range of US military considerations and Host Nation design and construction realities with the intention of a frank, earnest and open conversation on project delivery for MILCON and FSRM alike by incorporating evolving US government considerations and the Host Nation Perspective.

Learning Objectives

- Introduce and discuss methodologies for effective front-end planning of DOD projects.
- Discuss and explore strategies for correctly defining requirements on European theatre projects, and how to identify and to incorporate Host Nation requirements in this process.
- Discuss and explore strategies to improve coordination, communication and collaboration between US consultants, Host Nation consultants, and government representatives (US and Host Nation agencies).
- Discuss early definition of a cost effective, mission-focused project scope and how Host Nation considerations inform this process.
