REVOLUTIONARY FEDERAL ACQUISITION REGULATION (FAR) OVERHAUL ➡ RFO

All 53 FAR Parts have corresponding RFO Parts.

AFARS (Army Federal Acquisition Regulation Supplement) has been updated to align with the RFO and Class Deviations for many parts, but approximately 10 more parts require updates.

FAR Rulemaking DRAFTs are prepared and getting close to issuance in the Federal Register for public comments. Defense Federal Acquisition Regulation Supplement (DFARS) Rulemaking will follow FAR, AFARS will follow behind DFARS.

What does this mean to Industry? As implementation rolls out, solicitations and contracts may have a variety of forms of clauses and provisions depending on the state of such regulations or supplement.

CONTINUOUS IMPROVEMENT

To meet the USACE Commanding General's strategic goal of delivering our construction projects on time and within budget, USACE is conducting a comprehensive review of the entire acquisition lifecycle to identify risks, challenges, and best practices.

A survey was sent out to the enterprise to gain an understanding of firsthand experience and expertise in planning, awarding, and executing these projects.

Feedback will directly shape practical tools and updated guidance that will be used by acquisition teams across USACE to improve project outcomes.

The survey was designed to capture a broad range of experiences.
